

User's Guide to Flaik

Unofficial

Open your internet browser. Your browser must support Flash. You may be prompted to download and install it. Go ahead and do it. If you need to manually download and install the program, go to www.get.adobe.com/flashplayer and follow the instructions.

Note to iPhone and iPad users: Your systems do not support Flash Player, so don't try. Relent and use a PC or MAC.

In your browser's address bar, enter address, www.flaik.com and enter your Username and Password.

Creating a New Account

If you do not have an account, create one by clicking on CREATE NEW ACCOUNT. Then enter your First and Last name, decide on a User Name, enter your e-mail address and create a password. Then click on CREATE NEW ACCOUNT.

After your profile is created, sign into your account to import your "ski day" information from Flaik.

Select the IMPORT tab and enter your Flaik number, the date you used the Flaik and select a Resort. (Copper Mountain).

When importing your Flaik ID combined with the accurate date and resort, you will see a "Session Available" box pop up which means you can import your day. If you come across a message that says "Session Unavailable" with all accurate information entered, this occurs because the Flaik ID did not get scanned or typed into the Flaik system on that particular day and the data was not collected. This is why being scanned in or properly written on our class lists is so important.

Click on IMPORT below the "Comment box".

In the "GIVE US YOUR FEEDBACK" box, please enter a rating between 1 and 5 stars and click on Submit. Wait for a few seconds. A lot of data is being loaded.

Now you will see a map of Copper and a lot of lines ranging from colors green to red indicating your speed.

See that thick green line (scrubber bar) at the bottom. Click and drag the right side of it clear to the left side. Then slowly drag it back to the right. You can follow your path through the day.

Or do this: At the lower left corner of the area map, click on the green circle containing a triangular arrow. Now you will see a red dot on the map showing where you have skied. The dot will pause for lunch breaks and hot cocoa breaks.

While admiring the red dot, click on the Vertical, Distance, and Speed bars below the Start button that you clicked on earlier. This is called Learning by Transfer in instructor lingo.

OK, now go to the upper right corner of the map and hover around that circle. There is an option to view your travel as seen from satellite as well as rotate the view.

Now if you really want to get Geeky, click on Summary Tab at the upper right corner of the map. There, you will find statistics about the trails you were on, the times, vertical, average speed and your top speed.

While you are logged on, be sure to investigate other areas of Flaik.com. The system keeps a good historical record of your Flaik entries. I can follow my history back to 2009.

When you are finished, click on LOG OUT at the upper right corner of the screen.

If you have problems such as not being able to enter your Flaik ID Tag or viewing your day, click on the FAQ button at the upper right corner of your screen. If the answer is not there, then click on the Support button to send your message or comment.

Rich. Garcia